Council's Corner

Council indicated an interest in further exploration of modern metering and micro hydro, the final two projects in the top eight. Getting through the facade means providing some windows which are large enough for a firefighter, with full equipment including breathing apparatus, to enter from the outside. Illumination, signage, communications systems, even crowd control barriers may need to be considered.

Institution of Fire Engineers

I am taking our dog for long walks in Conkle Mountain Park; preparing the ornamental and food gardens for another season; relearning how to knit; spending more time playing the piano; baking bread again and generally slowing down and appreciating being a Canadian. Lomas's plans could not have taken into account design decisions made by Gillinson Barnett, and therefore could not have included an appropriate system of staircases and exits in the shell design to match the interior usage of the building. Public address systems obviously permit more detailed instructions to be given and so can be very beneficial; however care has to be taken if more than just pre-recorded messages are to be used.

Spain in particular was attracting more and more lower-to-middle-class Britons who might otherwise have gone to Bournemouth or Minehead or even the Isle of Man for their summer hols. After a presentation by staff at the public Committee of the Whole meeting earlier in the day, Council discussed the matter in-depth before voting unanimously to direct staff to apply for Community to Community C2C funding to enable a forum between the Penticton Indian Band and the Summerland Council as well as to investigate a number of reconciliation activities more on this below. The amount of fire resistance which must be provided will depend upon the fuel load of the building.

With larger buildings, any rescue will be more limited and may only be possible by hydraulic platform, for this to be feasible there has to be good vehicular access to the face of the building Figure 6. The District of Summerland has an interesting tax base, one that, while not unique in the province, certainly poses some challenges.

Similar to building community resilience, Reconciliation is an ongoing process, is mindful of future generations and, in this case, requires community-to-community involvement. Operational increases are for a number of initiatives Council and District staff are proposing this year. On the night of the fire, on the other side of a door, a large furniture van had been parked outside the club close to the wall.

Integrated Solar Project

On August 12, Council is discussing an application for funding to install additional stations throughout the District.
